Downingtown Borough
Boards & Commissions*

Boards and commissions are an established feature of municipal government which offers citizens an extraordinary opportunity to participate in a borough's governmental affairs. Their activities have helped to shape or influence public policy in many areas. The Borough of Downingtown has boards and commissions that endeavor to reflect the varied interests of our residents.

Several of the Borough's boards and commissions are required and established by state law, while others result from provisions from local ordinances. They address such subjects as planning, zoning, parks, fire, and construction. Although many boards and commissions are advisory, their influence and value can be significant. They make recommendations on a wide range of topics that come before the Borough Council.

How to Apply: For those citizens who are interested in serving on a board or commission, it is recommended that they read over the requirements and other pertinent information and attend at least one meeting of the board or commission they are interested in serving as a member. Application forms and information regarding required qualifications for all boards & commissions can be viewed on the Borough's website at www.downingtown.org . Click on Boards & Commissions tab.
